津 日 疾 情 播 报 # [One new case of pneumonia confirmed by a new type of coronavirus infection increased to 14 in our city] It was learned from the City Center for Disease Control and Prevention that at 18:00 on January 26, one new type of coronary disease was added in our city. The number of confirmed cases of viral pneumonia increased to 14 cases.

Patient Zhang Moumou, 71 years old, lives in Wuhan for a long time. The patient flew to Malaysia for tourism on January 19, and arrived at Tianjin Binhai International Airport at 23:30 on January 25. The patient was sent to the Airport Hospital of the General Hospital of Medical University due to fever, and was later diagnosed by the expert group of the city as the 14th case in our city, which was a severe case. He has been transferred to Haihe Hospital for treatment. His fellow crew members have conducted isolated medical observations.

As of now, a total of 14 cases of pneumonitis infected with new-type coronavirus have been diagnosed in our city, including 9 males and 5 females; 11 severe cases (3 patients diagnosed at 6 am on January 26, were further improved by Haihe Hospital and confirmed Severe cases), 3 cases of mild cases. No critical cases and deaths. A total of 178 close contacts were tracked, of which 3 have been diagnosed, 2 have been released from medical observation, and 173 are receiving medical observation.
